The MOUNT REGIS

1955

Foreword

"We're the Class that's all together
Though we may be miles apart. . ."

The day which we thought would never come has finally arrived. Four years ago it looked an eternity away. Now, in retrospect, it seems a short time to hold so many treasured memories of college life.

We pause here at our long-awaited goal to review the carefree moments and the solemn traditional occasions which have marked our four years at the College of the King, high on the hilltop.

We hope that in leafing through these pages, you will catch at least a glimpse of the spirit which has characterized the Class of '55 — loyalty, to one another and to Regis. Through proms and parties, Seminar and Sodality, we have always united to form the loyal whole.

We hope that the closely-knit bond which has marked our Class since early Freshman days in 1951 (Was it really that long ago?) will never diminish.

And though some of us will never meet again, this book will always serve as a reminder of our four most treasured years. It will recall memories of free hours spent over coffee in the Caf or in the Cottage, or just gabbing, mingled with the hours of midnight study at the Proctor's desk and the last-minute dash to beat Father Harrington into Ethics Class.

Though we are now leaving all this gaiety behind and embarking upon a new life, we feel confident that the education we have received under the banner of the Way, the Truth and the Life will fit us for all tasks, be they spiritual, intellectual or social. May we ever be grateful for this priceless gift.

Dedication

The lyrics of these, our last college days have been accompanied by a vigorous sort of music — bulldozers, trucks, hammers, steam shovels and the monotonous whine of a riveting machine. It is a cacophonous symphony, but a lovely one as well.

For in the new Regis Library is symbolized the growth of a thriving young institution. It is a good sound, this — young and powerful and strong. Carl Sandburg might have written this poem. It is growth.

But Regis has not grown alone. On the eighth of November, 1944, Richard J. Cushing was installed as Archbishop of Boston. To an old Bishopric he brought a zealous, unflagging youthful energy. Now after ten years much stands as a memorial to his labours. To the causes of education, the sick, the poor, the aged and the young has come the bounty of his generous heart.

On this then, the tenth anniversary of his installation, we dedicate the 1955 Mount Regis to a well-loved patron. His courage is an inspiration.

May we learn much from his example. May we retain the fire which is ours now and which has always been his. It is no platitude to say we now face the world. We do, indeed. Well then may we hold the torch of idealism high. It will flicker sometimes, certainly, but we have seen it flaming. May we never let it die.

View from Columns Catches Spring's Splendor

Springtime and sunshine find Registes outside the buildings in last-minute preparation for classes. From the library windows two groups of students are glimpsed on the Parterre of College Hall.

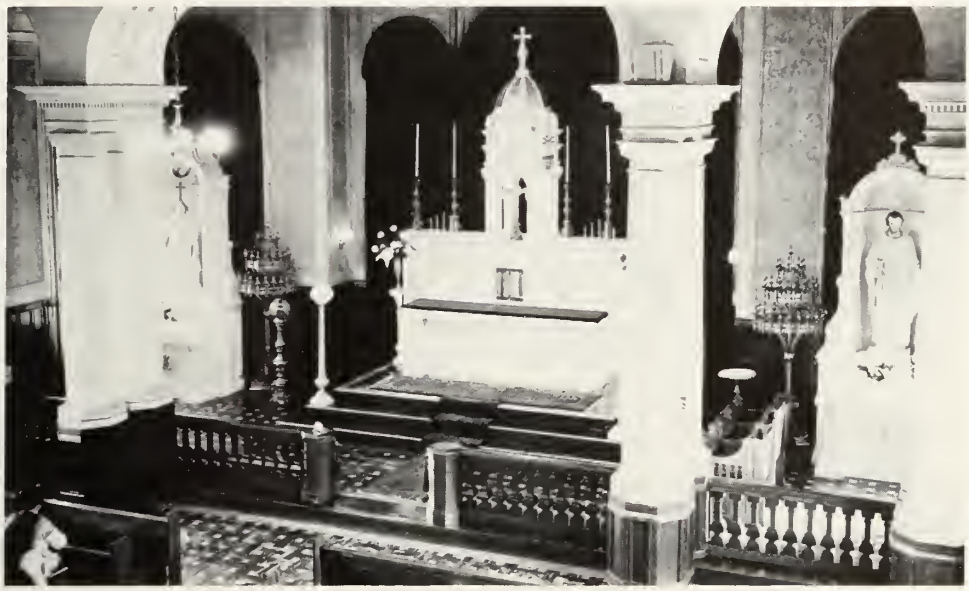
God's Presence Enfolds Campus in Serenity

Inspiring, liturgical Holy Family Chapel in St. Joseph Hall radiates peace and contentment for all who enter. The Presence of God is felt on every part of the campus, but in a special, enduring way here.

Scenes of Treasured Moments Linger in Mind

Regis' celebrated Norman Tower stands proud and majestic amid early Spring blossoms and verdure. The Tower adds to the dignity, stability and high-purpose found on the college campus.

Spiritual, Intellectual and Social Integrate



The Blessed Mother and St. Joseph are as prominent in the hearts of all Regis students as are their beautifully-executed statues in the College's lovely Chapel.

Our Lady's shrine in the Grotto is a private place of devotion for countless Regisites who go there unobserved, to pray and implore her blessings.

College Hall, Nucleus of Scholastic Living

Early evening settles, soft and tranquil, on College Hall in Summer. This is the season when the repose of Regis remains unruffled.

Hilltop Springtime Heralds Commencement Day

Mary Hefron gathers a bouquet of rhododendrons, as Nancy Goggin smilingly indicates her preference. Spring and Summer find the blossoming of lovely flowers throughout the Regis campus.

Seasonal Changes Enhance Beauty of Campus

Late Autumn brings an early evening and Cardinal O'Connell Hall lies serene and imperturbable among lengthening shadows.

September Finds Students Eager for Studies

The grape arbor, opposite Regis Hall, is a cool and enjoyable place for carefree relaxation.

Regis students attend the Mass of the Holy Spirit to ask blessings for the coming school year.

Student-Teacher Relations Excel at Regis

Substantiating by pictures her trip to France, Mme. Laus shows historic spots to Barbara Baker, Elaine Govoni, Renelle L'Huillier, Jean Volante and Ginny Pyne.

Claire Houle and Connie Moe have an informal meeting with Miss Hughes.

Miss Mullin gives meal-planning pointers and suggestions for unusual recipes and attractive menus to Anne O'Brien and Marie Bertrand.

Founders' Day Holds Autumnal Spotlight

Carol Delehanty, Jean Ryan, Madeline McCarthy chat with Miss Bryan on Founders' Day.

Agnes Badrena, Reda Stelmokas and Lily Lee look on, as Miss McQueeney adjusts Rusty Patterson's corsage after cap and gown reception.

Artist's sketch of Regis' newly-constructed Library. For a long time only a fond dream of both Faculty and students, the building is now an impressive and modern reality.

Faculty Is Enthusiastic at Student Affairs

Strictly off the record, Miss Hawley gives a few pointers to Maryann Kennedy and Lian Keating.

Miss Cali takes time out to give Ann Preston a short instruction on some fundamentals of Biology.

Miss Nolan jots down a few plays for Milda and Helen to use to advantage on the basketball court.

Chats With Teachers Add Air of Informality

From the other side of the desk, Gloria Mucera chats informally with Miss Murphy, Personnel Director.

Virginia Pyne focuses all her attention upon Miss Tumins and the Russian word for book.

Kathy Hourihan and Eleanor Kurriss learn a few basic formulae in Chemistry from Dr. Husted.

HARRIET E. SULLIVAN

1934 — 1954

Life comes and goes. This we've known long
And seen in flying leaves and withered asters
Or as a child, there was a someone who
Had gone away. But this was real and sharp,
For she was young and loved by us.
And hard it is to know that He has claimed
Her for His Own.

Attendance at Mass Puts a Glow on the Day

A Day

Regis College students begin each day by assisting at the celebration of Holy Mass, celebrated by Fr. Edward T. Harrington, Chaplain.

Seniors hurry to their classes through the main entrance of College Hall.

Before class, Mary Leonard, Anne Raymond and Jackie McLaughlin mail their letters.

At Regis Hall future Rembrandts, Anne McNeil, '57, Ann Ford and Jean Neary, '56, display their creative and artistic genius in the Workshop.

Madeline McCarthy and Jean Ryan confer on the Parterre about Student Council.

Chemistry, anyone? "Yes," say Betty Anne Shelbourne and Barbara Mitchell, '56.

Roaring Trucks Shattered Senior Classes

A Day

Relaxation comes with tea and television, as a group of students gathers in Regis Hall while studies are forgotten for an hour or two.

Kay Moynihan, Mary Lou Collins and Bobby Koster broaden their college education by concentrating on the uncanny mechanics of Lorain, breaking ground for the new library.

UNDERCLASSES

Junior Officers Review a Busy Schedule

Chosen to lead the Class of '56 during the Junior Year are Carol Bonner, Secretary, Mary J. Getzfread, Vice-President, Mary Alice Powers, Treasurer, and Marie Vasaturo, President.

Juniors

Junior Year is claimed by those who profess to know as the best of four magic years on the hill. It is undimmed by the sadness of lasts — the last Christmas banquet, the last big college week ends, even the last classes and the chance to saunter unhurried in the Spring sunshine. Junior Year bears a tradition of happiness. The Class of '56 follows this tradition very well indeed.

To the Seniors, the Class of '56 is known for support of every college activity. And this support is willingly given with a zest peculiarly their own.

This joie de vivre they bring to everything — the Junior Bridge, Ring Day, the crown of Junior Week and even the weekly talk-marathons, popularly known as Seminar. In the haze of memory, the Junior Class is a bright flash.

1955–

Seminar, Study and Mail, All-Engrossing

Glimpsed in the Periodical Room are Mary C. Daly, Marie Dutilly and Carol Settana.

The Mail Room is snapped in one of its quieter moments. This spot is a favorite rendezvous for numberless groups waiting daily mail call.

It's so hard to study on such a beautiful day. But Marj Gorman, Anne Delay and Claire Flynn make a determined and supreme effort to prepare for class.

Classes

Journalists, Dietitians and Just Talking

Classes

Want some good, old home cookin'? See Mary Kelleher and Jane Gallogly, Home Economists, '56.

"How do you spell it, Marsh?" asks Ann Ford of Ann Marshall, as Claire Flynn looks on.

Ellen Hurley, Eleanor Ney remind Ann Madden of her five-minute time limit.

Round the Regis Clock Activity Is Non-Stop

1955-

Psychology's out early and Ellin Donoghue leads the Juniors on a quick trip to the Pavilion before luncheon.

Mrs. Tenneson gives a convincing sales talk to Irene and Peggy in the store.

It's almost time for Seminar—judging from the serious expressions of Joyce, Jane and Jean.

Sophomores

The Class of '57 returned in September with a sense of really belonging. This was attested by the squeals of greeting in the Locker Room and along the corridors. We've all worn the same glow.

This is a busy year. Activities of the Sophomores are many and varied. They range from the Gym Field (skinned knees, archery burns) to the outstanding work of Sophomore Recruitment.

Among the waitresses, Sophomores comprise a goodly number with memories of song-fests in the kitchen and helping Deely and Frances.

Spring brings with it a feeling of nostalgia and perhaps a good sniffle at the Sophomore-Senior Communion Breakfast. And, of course, one never forgets the Daisy Chain on Class Day, which non-privileged call the "Dandelion Chain."

1955–

Miss Robinson, Dr. McCarty Kept Occupied

Linda, Ginny, Kay and Renelle, ready to go for pizza, stop to sign out.

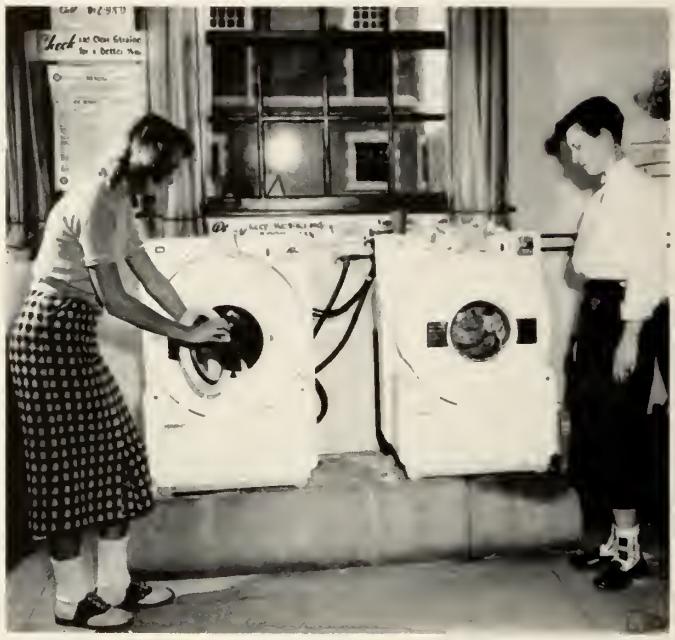
"Oh, Miss Robinson, are you sure I didn't get a call?" chorus Maureen, Nancy, Gloria, Carol, Ellen, Pat and Jeanne, hopeful Sophomores at the switchboard.

"What's up, Doc?" Mary Hughes seems to say, as she undergoes her physical exam from Dr. McCarty. Kathleen Spear, student nurse, stands by.

Classes

Glimpse of Behind-the-Scenes Domesticity

Classes



Sue Butkiewicz prepares to remove laundry from the Bendix, as Barbara Gorham anticipates completion of her wash.

Mary Hughes, Carol Noonan and Eileen Conway receive last-minute instructions before serving luncheon.

Suzanne Treacy greets week-enders, Betty McCarthy, Barbara Goodhue, Jane Denmark.

Off Moments in an Undergraduate's Career

1955-

Marie Cunningham and Marie Lynch order late afternoon snack served in the Caf by Jane Denmark and Mary Joan Coughlin.

Elizabeth Wilbur, Ginny Eldridge, Margaret Hohl find musical interludes relaxing.

Betty Delay pauses on Parterre to wait for sauntering classmates, Eleanor DiCarlo and Betty Maloney.

Freshman Officers Smile for the Camera Man

Energetic, conscientious workers are Officers Pat Graham, Vice-President; Jane Leahy, President; Jill Delay, Treasurer; and Ann Maloney, Secretary, who meet to discuss Freshman Week-End.

Freshmen

A lively-tempered and good group characterize the Class of '58 — the babies of the College. However in this, the most difficult year of adjustment, Freshmen have conducted themselves in a far from infantile manner.

Of course, there was the much-heralded "Zoo Parade." But this was obviously an unusual manifestation of the Christmas spirit on campus.

From the first week of school they became an accepted and integral part of Regis. Participating in all activities from plays and social events to matters a trifle more weighty, they revealed a willing and cooperative spirit.

Not all has been sunshine for the Class of '58. The death of Mary Goggin in an accident cast a shadow that her classmates cannot soon forget.

1955-

Underclassmen Snapped in a Serious Mood

Mary Goggin, Pat Graham, Marie Hutchinson pause at intention box outside Chapel.

Maureen Kelleher, Madeleine Crepeau and Patricia Burke find enjoyment in reading spiritual pamphlets, always available for the students' use.

Catherine Crosby indicates unusual clippings for Mary O'Connor and Carole Vannicola. The Journalism Bulletin Board is a source of information.

Classes

Freshmen Have a Curiosity for Everything

Classes

Paula Buckley, Georgian Hurley, Mary Ann Foley and Margaret Kelly make good use of an elevator key, a rare item.

Barbara McDonald refers to simplified outline to solve journalistic difficulty for Nancy King and Pat Thrift.

Doris Labbé types class notes and assignments to practise for days ahead.

Over Cokes Young Journalists Keep Informed

1955-

Jill Delay, Kathleen Hardy and Marilyn Riley pause on their way from the Caf to pick up the latest Herald edition.

Barbie, Dottie, Maureen, Pat and Carol show an early interest in Journalism.

Miss McLaughlin shows Mary Lee Sullivan, Jane McCarthy, Margaret Johnson the Alumnae social calendar.

ACTIVITIES

Government, Sodality Cement College Projects

Clubs

Student Government . . . Jean Ryan, President Lian Keating, Maryann Kennedy (seated); Marilyn Curley, Elizabeth Bellini, Marie Vasaturo, Carol Delehanty, Madeline McCarthy, Frances Foley, Paulita Twomey, Mary Joan Coughlin and Barbara Kelley comprise the elected governing body of Regis.

Varied Interests Give Sweep to Talent Scope

1955-

Art Club . . . Eleanor O'Neil finds Marie Bertrand an apt subject for a life portrait, while Joan McDermott and Camilla Costain glean a few ideas from the artist. Landscape in changing color tones provides a constant source of beauty for ardent painters. No trips are needed for settings; Regis holds the spell.

Athletic Association . . . Mary Ann Welch, Sheila Barry, Mary Hefron, Carol Murphy and Mary Rose Campbell add more dates to the busy sports agenda. Intercollegiate activities keep Regisites on their toes. But Bermuda-bound for Easter, bridges the gap between work and play.

Collegians Vie on Regis Stage, World Stage

Dramatic Club . . . Jane Denmark, Sally Donovan, Mary Jeanne Getzfread, Margaret Austin and Joanne Moloney relax while discussing plans for professional acting behind the proscenium. Sincerity, effort and stamina are not lacking. Proof is that Regis productions reveal the best in show business.

Clubs

International Relations Club . . . Both Jane Murphy and Anne Raymond (seated) agree that student participation in world events stimulates international friendship. Jane Muckian, Elaine Govoni, Frances Heron and Joyce Dunn add their opinions, too.

Campus Curriculum Embraces Missions, Music

Mission Unit . . . Three coins drop into the fountain for missioners in the field afar. Denyse Dunbar, (Chairman) centre, hopes Black Sambo will remind the students. Barbara Welch, Patricia Thalheimer, Paulita Twomey, Rita Farina and Marie Bertrand nod silent approval to second the motion.

1955–

Glee Club . . . An enthusiastic sextette gathers around the piano to perfect the syncopated rhythm of a haunting gypsy melody. Madeline McCarthy and Pat Thalheimer join forces from the bench, while Betty Uhlinger, Jackie Cyr, Sally Egan and Dorothea Murphy sing out a surprise ending in blended harmony.

Classicists, Writers Allot Time to Observe

Clubs

Sigma Tau Phi . . . President Helen Daily points out marks of authenticity on a piece of Grecian handwork. Classicists, Mary Jane Mead, Anne Doyle, Angelina Scopelliti, Marie Cunningham and Joyce Dunn display an avid interest in some amazing discoveries from the antique world.

Writers' Club . . . A new organization on campus with many successful activities already to its credit, the group anticipates a host of varied lectures and projects. With Patricia Finnegan as President, Janet Condrey, Claire Flynn and Ann Ford are eager to highlight creative talent on the Regis campus.

Home Ec, Soc Integrate Family Life, Society

Alpha Omicron Tau . . . Mary McCormack, Joan Hennessey, Lian Keating and Elizabeth Dunbar give progress reports to Home Economics Club President, Ann Keaney (seated). Each month one officer is General Chairman of the meeting. Details and plans are submitted for the President's approval.

Ethelon Club . . . Patricia Teehan, President, welcomes suggestions to enlarge and improve annual projects. Patricia Cannon, Vice-President; Constance Dowd, Secretary; Jane Lynch, Treasurer; and Marjorie Gorman, Publicity Chairman, discuss plans for the Food Sale and the Children's Christmas Social.

Old Traditions, New Findings Inform Regisites

Lambda Tau Phi . . . Economics Club leader, Patricia Hogan, ignites the flame of truth, as symbolized by touching this burning taper to the candle. Celia Quirk, Treasurer, and Patricia Murphy, Secretary, solemnly witness the simple yet meaningful ceremony for a monthly gathering.

Clubs

Leo XIII Historical Society . . . Rosalie L'Ecuyer, President, relates the story of one of the many treasures found in the Foyer and adjoining parlors. Here she holds the interest of Mary Alice Powers, Anne McNeil and Patricia Thalheimer, History concentrators.

Students Seek Culture by English, Science

Literati . . . English Club members endeavor to foster an interest in, and appreciation of, contemporary figures in the literary world. Current play review evokes smiles from Marylin Quinn and Mary Ford (seated). Marilyn Curley, Margaret-Mary Cullinan and Anne Doyle share their enjoyment.

Louis Pasteur Club . . . A balmy day finds Patricia Hennessey pausing to display Treasurer's report. Virginia Timothy reviews Secretary's minutes for President Rita Barry, as a precaution before the monthly meeting. Vice-President Beatrice Pattavina looks on with approval.

Math, Language Clubs in Seasonal Plans

Clubs

Mathematical Club . . . Various Math models are displayed and contrasted, as Maureen O'Leary, Carol McDermott, Carol Conroy, President, and Dorothy Harrington meet. Intricate mathematical problems are the source of constant mental stimulation for these collegians.

Modern Language Club . . . Discussing projects in any language creates a spirit of unity and understanding. Sylvia O'Donnell, Jackie McLaughlin, Virginia Crago and Carol Bonner link hands across the sea to join President Catherine Dowd in a mental trip to fascinating foreign lands.

Psych, Business Majors Activate Projects

1955-

Nu Beta . . . Comparing notes in various texts, these Psychology concentrators further their interest in their major field. Maureen Donnelly, Adelaide O'Keeffe, Janice Balfe, Jane Denmark and Ellin Donoghue point out ways to awaken interest in the Regis Psycho-Educational Clinic, each Thursday, in Dorchester.

Business Club . . . Patricia Mulrennan, Patricia Bracken, Mary McCarthy and Frances Heron talk over finances and accounting with President Agnes Badrena. Exchanging ideas on efficiency and business qualifications gives the students ample preparation for a career in public relations.

This year the Alumnae Association has been especially busy, adding two events to a full program, under the direction of Mrs. Paul Good, new President.

The first of these was Regis Night at the South Shore Music Circus, where alumnae enjoyed Noël Coward's lovely operetta, "Bittersweet." Fall days were sparked by work on the annual Fashion Show at the Meadows, followed that same evening by the traditional Harvest Hop.

Then came the anticipated Holly Tea and the long-awaited Noël Ball.

The New Year saw the Junior Class welcomed into the Association with a simple, dignified Ring Ceremony and the gala Ring Dance. Bishop Minihan spoke at the March Communion Breakfast, one of the spiritual functions of the Alumnae.

A Children's Fashion Show in the Gymnasium was the second of the new events. Then in succession came the Reception to the Seniors, Baby Day, the Reunion and Baccalaureate Sunday.

To maintain enduring interest in Regis, Mrs. Wallace Haley, Chairman of the Library Building Fund, sponsored a drive to fulfill the Alumnae pledge of furnishing the Reading Room. In so doing, the Association stands as the biggest sponsor of the new building and its members remain ever faithful daughters of Alma Mater.

Guild

All women with a personal interest in Regis, including alumnae and mothers and friends of the students, comprise the active membership of the Regis College Guild.

Serving her first year as President, Mrs. William D. Moran has been largely responsible for the success of the various activities.

Along with the regular monthly meetings on the third Tuesday, the Guild sponsors many enjoyable social events.

The season opened this year with an Autumn Luncheon in October, followed by the traditional Foyer Bridge, an afternoon always eagerly anticipated by all members and their groups of many guests.

The annual Christmas Sale and Tea took place on the campus at the gaily-decorated Regis Hall.

A series of House Parties was given at the homes of members during February. The monetary result of these parties definitely aids the full-tuition scholarship awarded by the Guild.

At the Communion Breakfast, the Reverend J. Edward Nugent, C.S.P., discussed "Catholic Action and Convert Making."

To all who participate in any way in this organization, the Class of 1955 wishes to extend humble appreciation and sincere gratitude. May your generosity to the Building Fund redound to your glory.

YEAR AT REGIS

Fall

Hilarity takes free reign, as Martha-Jane Smith and Kay Moynihan move in on opening day.

Jo Catalano kisses Bishop Minihan's ring before receiving her cap and gown.

Miss Kinsellar congratulates Marie, Barb, Denny and Ro on their first big day.

Pat Mulrennan, Business Manager of the MOUNT REGIS, reviews current problems in autumn sun.

Junior Week committee members gather to mull over tentative suggestions for their gala activities of the traditional Prom.

Dermot Grice strikes a familiar pose as Brutus in "Julius Caesar," given here.

Winter

Seven Seniors are ready for a coffee break familiar campus winter scene.

Regis Hall stands majestically amid snow-covered hills of Weston.

"Who? Us, Sister? We weren't making any noise. Honest." Nineteen guilty Seniors are surprised at a midnight party.

Ann Kelleher, '55, lends her social graces in song at one of the many Teas at Regis.

Sally, Nancy, Mary Jeanne appear in a poignant scene from "High Ground," club presentation.

Members of Kappa Omicron Phi prepare for a meeting. Regis is the first New England branch of this National Home Economics group.

Planning a trip to Italy? Miss DeSimone, Italian Professor, points out highlights of her summer trip to Nancy, Pat and Brenda.

Spring

Class of '54 appears in traditional Spring activities on campus...

Planting of the Norway spruce...

Crowning of Regis Queen of the May...

And of Our Heavenly Queen.

Climax of Junior Week — Bette Doyle crowned Prom Queen with her court, Ellie O'Neil and Martha J. Smith.

Anne Raymond, Mary Leonard, Madeline McCarthy decorate for Mothers' Tea.

Madeline and Jeanne Delay chat with Patsy, busy at his gardening.

Who's got the Ace of Spades? Four for bridge — Mary Lou Collins, Bette Dunbar and Lil Fahey appear doubtful. Rusty Patterson is non-committal on this summer's day.

Athletics

On the court and on the field, Regisites take their places. Athletics blends harmoniously with the academic rule and students find moments of mental relaxation in keeping physically fit and in exercising their code of sportsmanship.

Fall, Winter and Spring boast varied activities of field hockey, volley ball, basketball and tennis. On the social agenda the annual sojourn in Bermuda offers many hours of expectation and reminiscing.

Sun, fun and fresh air, mingled with a spirit of competitive friendliness, predominate the student-faculty softball game which brings to a close a balanced round of sports at Regis.

Field Hockey players, Gloria Mucera, Alice McMahon, Barbara Caruso are set for action.

The undefeated Basketball Teams of '54 pose in just pride around their instructors, Miss Olive Nolan and Miss Edwina Hughes, as they plan to retain their titles for the coming season.

Athletic Facilities Offer Students Variety

Number 19 throws a sure basket, while her guard tries vainly to intercept.

Basketball enthusiasts exhibit talents for fancy footwork and excellent coordination in action.

Marilyn Dozois, Ruth Sanderson, Patricia DeMaria display form and grace in Archery, as they practise to increase accuracy and skill.

With a Racket or Whirl Regisites Respond

Carol Desrosiers, a tournament competitor, stretches for a rousing forehand smash to win the set on the Athletic Field.

Patricia Greenlish substitutes Badminton for Tennis, while winter winds blow fiercely.

"Promenade all," as the Physical Education Class steps out to learn a new square-dance pattern during the winter session.

1955-

"Swing your partners" is the call, and the Gym rocks with the stamping and laughing of these Physical Education Regisites.

Collegians Alternate on the Green, in Gym

Softball comes with the warm weather and brings Janet Lynch, Ruth Sanderson and Gloria Mucera out into the sunshine.

Janet Lynch and Frances McKnight try their hand at Shuffleboard, preparing for the Bermuda trip.

A spirit of friendly rivalry motivates an interclass game of Volleyball.

While classmates look on, Carol Desrosiers and Pauline Murphy test their skill in Ping-Pong against their opponents.

Editors, Staff Strive for Truth in Print

1955-

A few changes here and there are pointed out by MOUNT REGIS Editor, Kay Moynihan. Pat Mulrennan, Business Manager, keeps the count.

Publications Maintain Superior Standards

1955-

Hemetera . . . A new literary angle captures the attention of the magazine staff, convening to discuss one of the issues. Joan Hennessey is eager to take everything in type. Editor Jeanne Delay waits with pencil poised. Looking over their shoulders are Frances Benson, Ann Marshall, Ann Ford, Claire Flynn, Joyce Dunn, Nancy Patch and Kay Moynihan.

Class Song

We're the Class that's all together
Though we may be miles apart;
And the friendships we have gathered
We will cherish in our heart.
For the days we've spent at Regis
Are the ones we love so dear;
And on these memories we will thrive,
The Class of Fifty-five.

Alma Mater

High on the hilltop in sunshine and shadow
E'er tenderly guarding the lives 'neath your care;
Fostering goodness in hearts that are grateful,
Our dear Alma Mater, attend our fond prayer.
Hold all our mem'ries safe in your keeping,
And hallow our dreams of the future's bright hours.
Dear Alma Mater, we're watching and waiting;
We twine in our hearts for you undying flowers.

Peace like an angel wing hovers around us;
In sorrow and laughter its clear light we see;
Regis, our dear Alma Mater, we bless you
And faithful to you and your standards we'll be.
Hold all our mem'ries safe in your keeping,
And hallow our dreams of the future's bright hours.
Dear Alma Mater, we're watching and waiting;
We twine in our hearts for you undying flowers.

Epilogue

Regis stands in silent beauty to acknowledge a final greeting from the Class of '55. We have nourished ourselves on the spiritual and intellectual elements of a Catholic college which enables each of us to claim membership in the physical body of Regis in accord with the Mystical Body of Christ.

To share our personal achievements among ourselves and the Faculty has been a privilege. With a melancholy sigh we wrap the countless memories of four years in silver paper to be brought out tomorrow, next year and for a lifetime.

Gay and sad memories are to be lived in retrospect. There are friendships made to keep beyond the halls of Regis.

Together we have studied in the library, laughed in the Pavilion and cried at the last rendition of our Class Song.

These things we will wrap in silver paper. They have bound us to traditions and ideals which rate high in the process of mental and physical growth.

And now we are one. Tomorrow we are many. Our sights are set for countless undertakings and suddenly we come forth as worldlings, each to her own and all to Christ.

Baccalaureate, Graduation and a final gathering on the Parterre bring four years to a close. Reluctant to leave, yet with a feeling of accomplishment, we take another step along the Way with Truth and the Life for Guidance.

Barbara Gilmore and Carol Conroy listen attentively to the words of wisdom humorously delivered by Maureen O'Leary.

A Book To Be Treasured . . .

This annual is a permanent record, in picture and prose, of the academic year 1954-1955 at Regis College. Its value will increase as the years pass, and the quality of the printing will contribute in great measure to its lasting worth.

The Andover Press, Ltd., takes pride in its well-known craftsmanship which, combined with the long hours of careful planning and painstaking editorial work by the MOUNT REGIS Staff, makes this a book to be treasured.
